Our Story...

Morgan and Austin both grew up in Iowa, where the majority of their families still live today. They were raised in homes full of love, faith and strong values, and those same qualities continue to shape the life they've built together. They are incredibly close to their parents and siblings. Morgan has a younger sister and two older brothers, and Austin has an older sister. Family is a central part of their lives, and they feel so blessed by the constant love and support that surrounds them. The future grandparents, aunts, and uncles are all overjoyed and eagerly awaiting the chance to welcome a new little one into the family. This child will grow up deeply cherished, surrounded by a strong, joyful, and supportive extended family. Together, they form a family full of love, strength, resilience, and a whole lot of stories to tell.

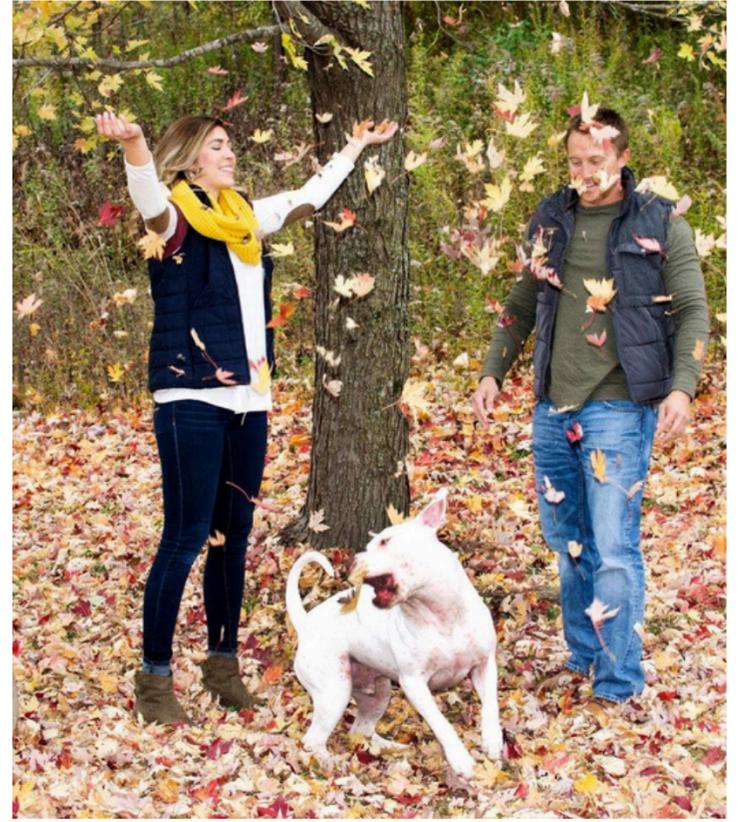

Why Adoption...

Our journey to grow our family has been a long and emotional one. After many years of infertility and countless prayers, we've come to see that God is leading us down a different, but beautiful path... adoption. Even in the hardest moments, the desire in our hearts has never changed. We have always dreamt of being "mom" and "dad" to a precious little one. That dream is still alive, just growing in a new way. We believe that being a parent isn't about blood; it's about love, commitment, and showing up every day with open arms and open hearts. Raising a child means providing safety, joy, guidance, and unconditional love, and that's exactly what we are ready and excited to do.

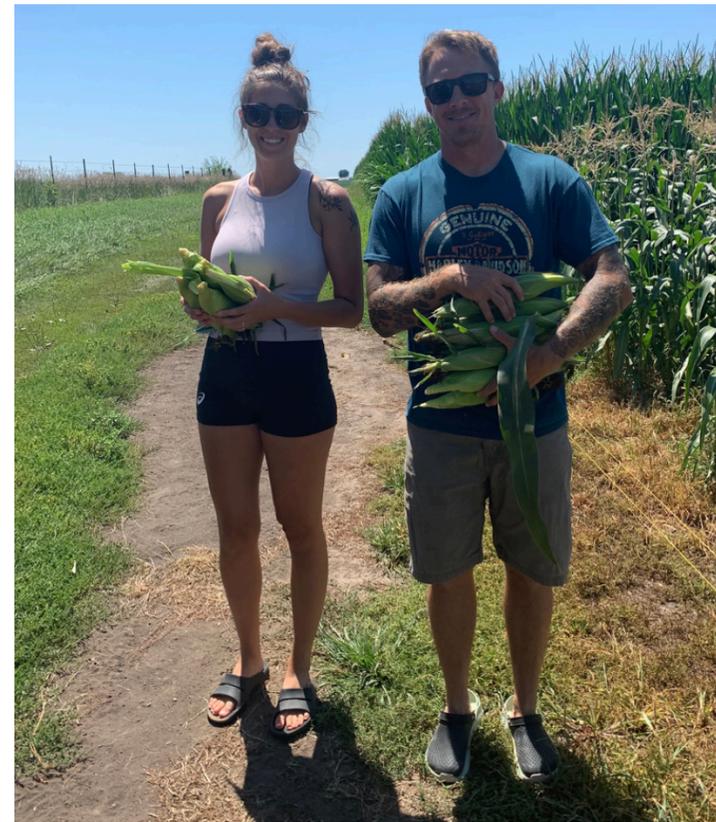

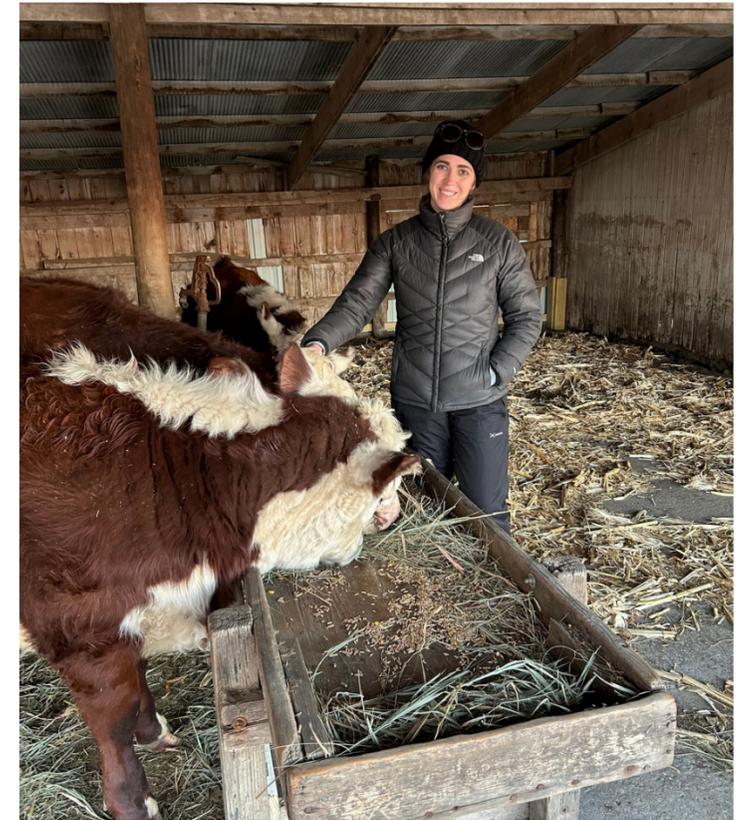

We know we, along with our amazing families, have so much to offer a child. Our home is full of laughter, strong values, and endless support, and we are all so ready to pour that love into a son or daughter. Adoption is not our "Plan B." It is God's Plan A for our family and we're stepping into it with gratitude, hope, and hearts full of love for the child we haven't met yet, but already love deeply.

with love... Morgan & Austin

Morgan...

Morgan, a lifelong Iowa resident, recently began an exciting new chapter as a licensed Real Estate Agent after successfully directing a day care for many years. Her new career offers the flexibility she values, allowing her to be more present for her family, a role she cherishes deeply. Known for her selflessness and nurturing spirit, Morgan consistently puts the needs of others before her own. She finds joy in the kitchen, where she loves to learn & create new recipes! She loves spending time outdoors, on the farm, in her garden, and going on walks. Having always dreamed of having children and a family of her own, Morgan's life reflects her deep commitment to care, connection, and creating a warm welcoming home.

Austin...

Austin is also a lifelong Iowan who grew up on a farm, where he developed a strong work ethic, a caring heart, and a deep sense of responsibility. His upbringing instilled in him the ability to fix just about anything, a skill he learned from his dad and a sensitivity to others' needs, a gift from his mom. Austin is known for his decisiveness, determination, and unwavering support for those around him. He brings both strength and warmth to his family and community, blending discipline and trustworthiness with a playful sense of humor. Deeply compassionate and always putting others first, Austin has long dreamed of having a family. Since being with Morgan, he knows without a doubt that they would make incredible parents together.
